Howdy, Ladies!

How is it August already?! That means summer is coming to an end and kids will be going back to school soon.

Thank you to GE Johnson for a superb Hard Hat Tour! Kendall and Matt took us around the site and answered all of our questions. They said we were one of the largest groups they have had. We had many guests and it was refreshing to see all the new faces. The views from the second and third floor were breathtaking. My favorite detail was the flow of windows on the second floor. They went along the ridge-line so you can always see the mountains. Very cool idea! I'm hoping to see some new members from all the guests we had.

August also means that our NAWIC year is rapidly coming to an end. Committee chairs/co-chairs you will be receiving emails requesting a committee report and information for next year's budget.

Fall Conference is coming up at the end of October. It will be held in El Paso, TX from October 26 -28. Regular registration is only $170 and open through August 31. The flights are rather cheap right now as well or you can drive it in about 9 hours. They are hosting the conference at the Best Western Plus El Paso Airport Hotel & Conference Center. You can reserve a room by calling 915-778-6411.

I hope you make the most of these summer days!

Our 2023 Strategic Planning event is right around the corner! I'm very excited for us all to get together and have some fun while planning the future of our NAWIC Pikes Peak 356 Chapter.

This is a Chapter Member only event - no guests please!

Strategic Planning is a bi-annual event to focus and design initiatives for what our Chapter plans to achieve over the next 2 years. At the meeting we review the previous Strategic Plan from 2021, discuss what was achieved, and what we didn't achieve and why (i.e. did it become non-relevant to our chapter, did we try something for the first and it failed, etc.). This year, we will also create a NEW plan for the next 2 years. We value input from ALL chapter members and hope to see as many of you at this event. Your voice and input matter and can make all the difference in our Chapter's future and success!

Please join me in giving a special THANK YOU to our location host: Timberline Landscaping, and our lunch sponsor: Pyramid Construction Inc!

Please RSVP to Eventbrite no later than Wednesday, September 6th, 2023. We are asking for individuals to bring drinks and treats! If you are able to provide either item, kindly note so on the Eventbrite RSVP. Please also note if there are any dietary restrictions.

If you have any questions, please contact Strategic Planning chair, Christina Townsend, at (719) 884-0723, or by email at christina.townsend@hubinternational.com. Thank you!

Community Outreach

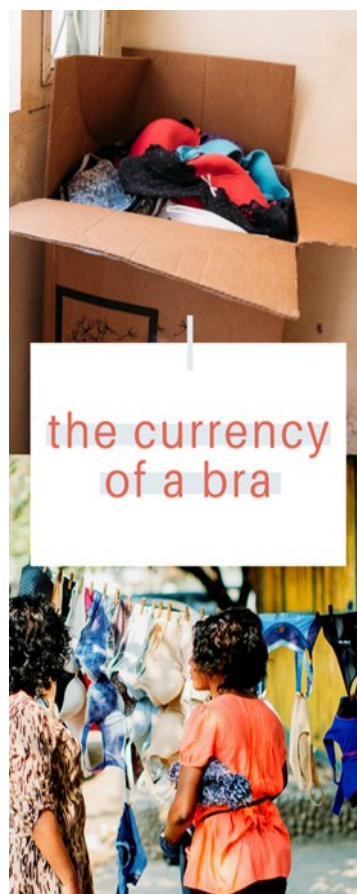

NAWIC Pikes Peak 356 Quarterly Community Outreach
(October - December 2023)

We will be starting off the fourth quarter with a Bra and a Buck drive to support Free the Girls. This is an organization that former member, Berni Mount with Nunn Construction, had us partner with that helps women who have been exploited through sex trafficking to be reintegrated, specifically by providing a sustainable path out of poverty by selling bras. Bras and the second-hand clothing market provide a safe and powerful economic opportunity for survivors of trafficking in the developing countries that Free the Girls serves. A woman only has to sell four bras a day to earn a livable wage.

For the month of October, and for Breast Cancer Awareness Month, our chapter will be collecting new and gently used bras in good condition, plus one dollar per bra donated, to go to Free the Girls. You can bring your donation to the October membership meeting or make arrangements with Samantha Walter to collect your donation at another time if you cannot attend the meeting.

Please contact Samantha Walter at samantha.walter@ramparttile.com with any questions that you may have.

2023 PSW Spring Forum

National Representative Report

DATE: 04/27/2023 – 4/29/2023

LOCATION: Cheyenne Mountain Resort, Colorado Springs, CO

The 2023 Pacific Southwest Region Spring Forum was a WILD West Themed event; WILD being “Women Inspired Leadership Development” and it was a fantastic blend of NAWIC networking, amazing programming, and wagon wheels full of whiskey held at the Cheyenne Mountain Resort in Colorado Springs, CO. This was my first Pacific Southwest event, and I was absolutely blown away by Director Karen Mitchell, the Pikes Peak Chapter #356 and the ladies of the region!

The entire trip was fabulous. Karen Mitchell picked me up at the airport and we enjoyed the hour and a half drive chatting and getting to know each other better on the way to the resort. Karen who lives near Colorado Springs pointed out local points of interest and shared details about some of the amazing events and women I’d be meeting during the conference.

After we arrived at the resort and got our rooms sorted, it was time to meet back up in the lobby as we boarded a bus and went to tour the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Museum. The building was constructed in 2020 and was truly just interesting to enter and stand in the central lobby of. The planning was so well thought out – meant to take an elevator to the top and tour down through the history of some awe-inspiring athletic accomplishments.

The tour was amazing, the group was split into smaller parties and enjoyed a guided tour through the history of the Olympic and paralympic games as well as team USAs participation in those games. They had one of only two complete sets of torches from the games. During the tour you could try several events, race against Jesse Owens, check out how technology has improved the athletic performance of participants and see countless memorabilia, pictures, documents, and medals all capped by a movie that you seriously couldn’t walk away from and not be choked up.

In a lot of ways, it reminded me of NAWIC informative, inspiring, and emotional.

When we arrived back at the resort, I attended the President’s Meeting in Director Mitchell’s room. Director Mitchell has a Chapter President Mentor in her region, Patty Waldhouse Salt Lake City #90, who kicked off the discussion. I hadn’t seen a president mentor committee chair before, but it seemed to work really well. Patty seemed to facilitate the conversation which allowed Karen to listen, respond and offer advice on the issues the President’s were bringing up. It came across as super organized, delegatory and offered the Presidents another resource. Another part I really liked was asking the Presidents to share a personal and professional win during their introductions; it led to people getting to know one another better – there were second-year, first-year Presidents as well as Vice Presidents in the room representing chapters but it also kept the conversation positive and creative.

The next day, I registered and was given a handmade leather credentials holder as well as two playing cards. The conference started with a First Timer’s Meeting led by Karen Ellis Las Vegas #74 and Katie Trapp Pikes Peak #356, as well as, offering a Coffee Chat for the non-first-timer’s in a different

2023 PSW Spring Form Report

Denver #112 was in attendance so the information on the NAWIC Leadership Academy was bolstered not only by her presence but also by Director's Mitchell experience with the program.

After the morning portion of General Session/NAWIC Business, there was a fabulous NAWIC PSW Women Business Owner's Panel comprised of NAWIC members; Angela Crawford Gr. Phoenix #98, Karen Edmondston El Paso #248, Kelly Eustace Pikes Peak #356, Celeste Interrante, Las Vegas #74, Marcia Veidmark Gr. Phoenix #98 and moderated by Karen Ratzlaff Orange County#91. The group ranged from first-time business owners, as well as first- and second-generation owners and they shared their phenomenal experience, lessons learned and successes. It was so interesting to hear about their different journeys, career paths, and expertise but the commonality of their grit, determination, and sincerity. It was truly inspiring to hear them share their stories, give advice and inspire others in the room to examine their own path and entrepreneurial opportunities.

After lunch, there was a presentation on the New Air Force Academy Visitor Center Project by Kahyun Lee from Fentress Architects. The project itself was really interesting – the building sort of climbs from one end to another and from the back it looks like a plane lifting off. At the last minute the project manager from GE Johnson Construction couldn't attend but Kahyun spoke about both her path into the United States and Architecture as well as issues she's experienced and still experiences that resonated with many in attendance.

During the afternoon portion of the General Session/NAWIC Business, Region Fund Trustee Elections were held, NAWIC National Campaign information was shared, upcoming conference information including the 2024 Joint Spring Forum in Hawaii with Pacific Southwest and Pacific Northwest was communicated, and then there was a nailbiter of a bid for the 2025 Forum, horse puppets and Hi-ho Silver went the pages through two ties and a final selection to Phoenix, AZ.

We then took a break and came back that evening for the Region Awards Banquet where I must say that the DJ was on point with musical assistance through the myriad awards and accomplishments. Director Mitchell had President's and Committee Chairs come up and shared fun facts about them. The Committee Awards were presented with a description of the winning submission or compelling story – I think sometimes these are left out and we get to know who won but not why or allow the winner more than an applause of recognition for their efforts. I really appreciated these efforts that kept people laughing, engaged and I assume inspired to be on the stage next year.

The entire conference was so very well organized by passionate and engaged members who went to great lengths to get all the details pulled together. I kid you not that at different moments people had tears in their eyes, were laughing together and were so enthralled with speakers and content that they stayed in their seats throughout. It is so obvious how connected the region is with one another and everyone was so friendly and welcoming. Director Mitchell was superb at delegating tasks and able to focus on what was truly a director role but was also supported by the entire region - it was fantastic to see in person. I tried to share all the best practices and little things that truly helped build and pull it altogether. I truly enjoyed getting to know Director Mitchell better and spending time with the ladies of the Pacific Southwest Region – I can't wait to see them again next Forum!

location. The first-timer's meeting had great information about NAWIC as well as expectations for conference included, it also introduced a game that was new to me. First Timer's were encouraged to meet non-first timer's and ask them for one of the playing cards that had been handed to the non-first timer's during registration. The first-timer's were asked to meet and subsequently make the best poker hand that they could and place it in an envelope. Best poker hand would win an NEF pin.

Afterwards, there was a two-hour Women's Self-Defense Seminar where the ladies were able to practice moves and techniques that were realistic and seemed effective.

In the afternoon, Forum Coordinator Ally Jencson Pikes Peak #356 and Director Karen Mitchell welcomed everyone to Forum. We additionally heard from Lola Woloch the President of the Southern Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce, who welcomed the attendees to Colorado Springs. Lola was really forthright and dynamic – I remember thinking this woman could've been a keynote and if this is who they have for the welcome, I was in for an amazing conference.

Afterwards, we were treated to a workshop on elevating your personal brand leadership by Suzanne Tulien. Suzanne was a truly engaging personality, able to illicit responses from the group, you wouldn't believe how many people were taking notes. She shared the 7-11 Rule, in which in the first 7 seconds of contact, a person or audience will make 11 impressions of your personal brand. She also told the group that "each of us is a snowflake, and so it is just not sustainable to not be authentic. Suzanne walked the group through assessments, exercises, and ideas about how to be authentic, communicative, and impactful. It was a whole day workshop packed into two hours; I could've wished for more time to let her words breathe a little and allow us to have more time to think through the exercises and have opportunity to have group discussions or larger conversations. It really was an actionable and insightful workshop. A fantastic stopping point to an interactive and engaging first day of Forum.

That evening was the "Denim and Pearls" Welcome Reception. A fun low-key event that featured a wagon wheel of whiskey that was pushed around the room, The "Girls of the West" stopped by to further welcome attendees and pose for pictures while live music and a good time was enjoyed by all.

The next day was the NAWIC General Session and once again the coordination between the Pikes Peak Chapter, the Forum Coordinator and Director Mitchell was on point and on theme. The pages were on the lookout for notes held up by horse hand puppets left on tables and had been given wooden horses that made noises as they pony expressed messages throughout the day – I honestly cannot ever recall a better or more extensive use of the page system at a conference. Ally Jencson called out breaks and recesses with a dinner triangle in a way that was both funny and definitely got the point across. There was even a Girl Power playlist put together by Christina Townsend Pikes Peak #356. Ally had additionally assigned seats for attendees and while I think this had initially made some people a little uneasy, it really did end up encouraging people to meet others in the region and went really well. There was a Flag Ceremony from the Fort Carson Mounted Color Guard and a Morning Affirmation read by Joan Nacino Hawaii #114, that was really moving.

No one was surprised but the bound, full-color program that Director Mitchell put together with her son, Ryan's help was super detailed (meaning really long 😊), and contained Mid-year Board updates, SOA, Welcome Letters, Region President and Committee Updates, the Candidate Guide, an Attendee list with contact info and literally everything you could possibly want to know about the Forum. Because of this plentiful amount of information, the NAWIC Business went over smoothly. I gave the President's report from Lauline Mitchell and provided a succinct update on the actions of the Board.
